China Today: New Dimensions; New Opportunities

14 December 2015
2:30 pm to 5 pm
Hong Kong Convention and Exhibition Centre (Room S-421)

Theme: China’s economic development, under the leadership of President Xi, is marked by new dimensions and new initiatives. Xi’s visits to the US and UK reflect China’s proactive role in global politics and the global economy. Meanwhile, his plan under the name of “One Belt, One Road”, and the setting up of the Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank (AIIB), signify his vision of China playing a key role in global affairs, including trade and business.

This seminar aims to provide a variety of perspectives on China’s development, and the valuable opportunities that this brings to Hong Kong and the region.

Order of the Forum

2 pm – Registration

2:30 pm – Welcome remarks by Mrs Eva Cheng, Executive Director of Our Hong Kong Foundation, who will also be the master of ceremonies

2:35 pm – Speech by Tung Chee Hwa, former Chief Executive of HKSAR and current Vice Chairman of the Chinese People’s Political Consultative Conference

Topic: Embracing China’s new initiatives, and grasping the opportunities that this brings

3 pm – Speech by The Lord Davis of Abersoch, Chairman and Partner at Corsair Capital

Topic: New dimensions in China-Europe trade ties and its significance to Europe, and to UK in particular

3:30 pm – Stephen Roach, Senior Fellow at Yale University’s Jackson
Institute for Global Affairs and Senior Lecture at the Yale School of Management

Topic: A win-win “competitive” partnership in China-US trade, and the significance of Xi’s visit to the US.
