BY CENTRE OF DEVELOPMENT AND RESOURCES FOR STUDENTS

The University of Hong Kong

University Life is an adventure that – literally – everyone here is a key player.

Your strategic moves at each stage have a direct impact on the outcomes of this adventure. Other than the core expedition (your academic studies), there are some fun and important mini explorations – like internship, exchange, hall education, competitions, student societies, dating, etc. The key to winning is mainly about how you manage your resources, especially your time. Most successful players engage themselves in activities that meet their needs and goals.

First Year Experience

As a new player, you may find yourself standing at the crossroads and wondering which directions you should go. An open mind for handling novel challenges and a roadmap (this first year brochure) for planning and setting priorities during your stay at HKU are what you need to start your journey.

And don't forget to check out the following to familiarise yourself with the "game rules", "support and resources" and "opportunity cards" on hand:

- ✓ HKU Educational Aims (tl.hku.hk/reform) to know what you are expected to achieve
- ✓ The key cards that contribute to your academic, professional and social excellence, e.g. Horizons Office, Common Core, Centre for Sports and Exercise (CSE), General Education Unit (GEU), Hall Education, Centre for Applied English Studies (CAES).
- ✓ Your WILD card, CEDARS, your student service and resources centre, AND your co-curricular learning hub.

THE COAT OF ARMS

The University of Hong Kong, founded in 1911, is the oldest tertiary institution in Hong Kong. It was granted a shield and a motto by the College of Arms in 1913, and throughout its history the University's visual identity has been firmly based on their display, often coupled with the University's name. No other university in Hong Kong possesses a coat of arms. This is a distinction that resonates outside Hong Kong, particularly in the United Kingdom, other Commonwealth jurisdictions, and the United States. It is also a splendid reminder of the University's antiquity, and a most dignified and effective corporate identity.

Introduction

The concept behind HKU's 4-year undergraduate curriculum is the totality of the student learning experience. As you enter university, you are likely to be bewildered by new demands and challenges that you seldom faced during secondary school education. You need to decide for yourselves where you want to go and what you want to achieve when you graduate. It is important that you have appropriate and realistic expectations of a university education and know how far you can go towards achieving your personal and academic goals, so that you will have a sense of achievement at the end of your first year as well as when you graduate.

This book aims to be a quick one stop information hub to help you understand more about learning at HKU, adapt to university life and make better use of HKU's support services, meet your learning buddies and develop academic and personal goals.

For more information on the curriculum structure, regulations and selection of major(s) and minor(s), please refer to the website of Academic Advising Office: aao.hku.hk.

Towards the end or after your first year at the University, you may consider going abroad for exchange studies and/or engage in experiential learning required by your course(s). You are therefore encouraged to visit the website of the International Affairs Office (aal.hku.hk/studyabroad) to learn more about its support services to HKU's incoming and outgoing exchange students, the exchange opportunities, partner institutions, eligibility and application procedures etc. so that you can plan ahead for your studies. You can also find useful information on non-academic support such as visa and financial assistance on the website of CEDARS-Campus Life (cedars.hku.hk/cl).

Academic Advising

At HKU, academic advising helps you understand the aims of university education, the culture and ethos of learning, the available educational options and the paths that can be taken so that you can draw your own roadmaps to achieve your goals and monitor your own progress. Academic advising enables you to have greater satisfaction with your academic experience, better self-understanding and a sense of success in the achievement of personal and academic goals.

All first-year undergraduates will be assigned to a Faculty Academic Adviser upon registration. You are required to meet with your Faculty Academic Adviser once every semester in your first year of study to discuss different academic issues.

Academic Advising Office's website:
aao.hku.hk

Language Requirement and Pre-requisites

You are advised to pay attention in completing the language and pre-requisite course(s) required by your Faculty in your first year of study.

Some Faculties require students to complete certain introductory course(s) in their first year to facilitate smooth progression to senior years and better understanding of the subject in question. At the programme level, majors and minors may also require students to complete certain pre-requisite(s) in the first year, the failing of which may affect their taking of senior courses and declaration of the relevant major or minor. Please check with your Faculty for the details of the courses.

Common Core Curriculum

The HKU Common Core Curriculum is the centrepiece of our undergraduate curriculum. It stimulates students' intellectual curiosity to explore issues of profound significance to humankind through four Areas of Inquiry (Aols): Scientific and Technological Literacy, Humanities, Global Issues, and China: Culture, State and Society. Common Core courses are interdisciplinary in nature and are taught by professoriate staff from all Faculties.

Students are normally required to take six Common Core courses, one from each Aol and not more than two from any Aol, with not more than 24 credits in one year. Please pay special attention to the non-permissible combinations of courses and individual faculty requirements. For details, please visit the Common Core website and/or consult your home Faculty Office.

Student Resources

CEDARS, your student service and resources centre, AND your co-curricular learning hub

The Centre of Development and Resources for Students, or more popularly known as CEDARS, provides comprehensive student services such as housing, financial support, visa matters, employment preparation, professional counselling, as well as a spectrum of co-curricular learning and serving opportunities.

CEDARS Co-Curriculum framework attempts to answer the question, "How does a freshman transform from a secondary school student to a HKUer, a Free Person who is competent, autonomous and honourable and eventually, a graduate with distinct attributes as indicated by these HKU Educational Aims (tl.hku.hk/reform)?"

1. Pursuit of academic/professional excellence, critical intellectual enquiry and life-long learning
2. Tackling novel situations and ill-defined problems
3. Critical self-reflection, greater understanding of others, and upholding personal and professional ethics
4. Intercultural understanding and global citizenship
5. Communication and collaboration
6. Leadership and advocacy for the improvement of the human condition

Inspired by the motto of HKU (Sapientia et Virtus, 明德格物), the traditional teaching of Chinese "Six Arts" (六藝) and the Seven Classical Liberal Arts rooted in the ancient Hellenistic World, CEDARS Co-Curriculum framework emphasises the compatibility between the objectives of CEDARS co-curricular programmes and HKU Six Educational Aims. With this emphasis, a wide spectrum of programmes are offered to help students develop their capabilities as well as personal qualities covered by these Aims. Main themes of these programmes include internship, leadership and advocacy for a better world, innovation, self-reflection and empowerment, communication, decision-making and problem-solving as well as aesthetics and culture.

All our work have one common goal: to empower you to become a Free Person living a fruitful University Life with lots of achievements and good memories.

CEDARS, as your WILD card, supports you in creating your own defining moments.

Campus Facilities

Residential Halls, Residential Colleges and Student Residences

Halls of Residence are more than just a place to sleep – they form part of a long tradition at the University and are as important to your overall education as your studies. Hall life teaches students to be independent, and gives them the chance to interact with people from different backgrounds under one roof.

HKU has 17 residential halls and residential colleges where undergraduates can experience this important part of university life. Each hall has its own history and culture, and students find that as they make new friends there and develop a sense of belonging, it becomes a home away from home. Other accommodation options include non-hall housing and off-campus housing. Please refer to CEDARS-Campus Life website (cedars.hku.hk/cl) for applications and other information.

Amenities Centres

CEDARS manages three amenities centres (cedars.hku.hk/cl/amenities). The facilities are open for use by students and staff as individuals or groups. Some facilities can be booked online via HKU Portal for exclusive use. Priority is given to students, student societies, and student organised activities.

Heritage Buildings

(1912) Declared Monument

Main Building

The Main Building is the oldest structure on the HKU Main Campus. This Edwardian Baroque-style building was designed by Alfred Bryer of Leigh & Orange. Construction began in 1910 and was completed in 1912. The building was a gift from Sir Hormusjee N. Mody, a distinguished Parsi businessman and land developer in Hong Kong. "Mody Road" in Tsimshatsui bears his name. Without his generosity, the University may not have come into existence.

(1919) Declared Monument

Hung Hing Ying Building

Hung Hing Ying Building sits squarely in front of the Main Building. The central dome, entrance portico and balanced architectural proportions are strongly neoclassical, while its red brick walls complement the Edwardian Baroque aesthetics of the earlier Main Building.

(1931) Declared Monument

Tang Chi Ngong Building

Tang Chi Ngong Building is a three-storey flat-roofed building with Shanghai plaster surfacing. It was opened in 1931 and made possible by Mr Tang Chi-Ngong. It was originally used to house the School of Chinese of the University.

The Building is unique in the University for the use of the letter "V" in place of the letter "U" as in "vniversity", reflecting a practice common for Latin stone inscriptions in the 1920s and 1930s. You will find the word "vniversity" appears on the stone arch, the façade, as well as on the stone tablet marking the Building's foundation date.

(1860s) Declared Monument

University Hall

University Hall is located at 144 Pokfulam Road. The building is a source of much folklore. Originally named Douglas Castle, it was built around 1860 as the private residence of Douglas Lapraik, a Scottish trader and longtime resident of Hong Kong and Macau. It was purchased by the Missions Etrangères de Paris in 1894, renamed Nazareth House, and then used for many years as a residence for French missionaries and a printing house for bibles and religious texts.

(1932) Grade 1 Historic Building

Fung Ping Shan Building

Fung Ping Shan Building is located next to the University's main entrance on Bonham Road.

This three-storey red brick building was opened in 1932. It was a gift from Mr Fung Ping Shan, who was a co-founder of the Bank of East Asia. During the early days, the building was used as the University's Chinese library. This "Fung Ping Shan Library", as was called, is now located in the Main Library.

(1913, 1914, 1915) Grade 1 Historic Buildings

Lugard Hall, Eliot Hall and May Hall

Lugard, Eliot and May Halls were opened in 1913, 1914 and 1915 respectively, and were named after Sir Frederick Lugard, the first Chancellor of the University; Sir Charles Eliot, the first Vice-Chancellor of the University; and Sir Francis Henry May, the second Chancellor of the University.

These three-storey red-brick buildings were originally used as student hostels. Torrential rain and landslides in 1966 necessitated repairs to Eliot and May Halls. When the works were completed, these three buildings were combined into one residential unit, renamed "Old Halls", in 1969. Lugard Hall was demolished in 1992.
